Foreword

THE 1926 EAGLE Staff do not expect all who read the pages of this volume to realize the amount of earnest effort and hard work that has been their lot in making this book possible.

What they do hope is that the readers who peruse these pages will find that they reflect the enthusiasm of the students in their school life, and will enjoy with them the literary efforts, the record of their sports and their fun and have a kindly feeling for all the activities promoted by the students.

If it can foster a closer relation between the community and the student body and Faculty and transmit to those who follow the present Seniors some of the pleasures of High School life then the 1926 EAGLE has fulfilled its mission.

IRA T. TURLINGTON

Tribute to Mr. Turlington

A NOBLE, humble, and good man was Ira Thomas Turlington. Fondness for books, which he showed as a boy, led to his thorough preparation for college and to his entering the University of North Carolina at twenty years of age. Upon graduation from the University, he founded Pleasant Hill Academy, and edited the Smithfield Herald for two years. In 1886 he founded Smithfield Collegiate Institute, name of which changed 1891 to Turlington Institute, and which is now Turlington Graded School in honor of him. He did ten times as much for education in his native county of Johnston as any other person. For twenty-three years he was County Superintendent of Schools, and planned and thought for the progress of education.

He undertook the arduous but loved labors of unfolding and uplifting the minds and instilling the highest moral principles into the hearts of the pupils he taught. His labors were as the labors of ten because his heart was pure. His faith and consecration were increased by the family altar by his fireside. He realized that "Reading maketh a full man," and this made him a better leader. On his classes he drew from his storehouse of fact, fancy and experience, and taught with such life and ability that his pupils "wondered that one small head could carry all he knew." His influence and service were multiplied, for he taught those who were to become doctors, lawyers, teachers, preachers, merchants, farmers, congressmen, and statesmen. No one has been of as much service to Johnston County as he. Turlington Institute was a "fount of knowledge and a shrine of learning."

Professor Turlington was a gentleman according to Thackeray's definition:

"What is it to be a gentleman? It is to have lofty aims, to lead a pure life, to keep your honor virgin, to have the esteem of your fellow citizens, and the love of your fireside; to bear good fortune meekly, to suffer evil with constancy; and through evil or good to maintain truth always. Show me the happy man whose life exhibits these qualities and him we will salute as gentleman, whatever his rank may be."

The message of his life to us is:

"Be eager and faithful in your work, and always fair with one another."

"Do your best at all times, to be manly, kind, tolerant, forgiving, thoughtful, energetic, ambitious, intellectual, happy-hearted, altruistic, and spiritual—be a lover of nature, a lover of life, a lover of man, and a lover of God."

History of Smithfield Graded School

THE Turlington Graded School of Smithfield was formed from the old Turlington Institute. The school bears the name of the man who spent the greater part of his life in sincere devotion to the upbuilding of education in Smithfield and Johnston County. He had been head of the Turlington Institute for twenty years, and was superintendent of the present school for five years. The building was then a large wooden frame of rooms. The enrollment of the school was 239 and the faculty consisted of 5 members. The trustees were E. W. Pou, President, W. L. Woodall, Secretary, J. W. Wellons, T. R. Hood, and J. D. Underwood. Supplies of books were bought, and rented to the pupils each season.

In 1910 Mr. A. Vermont was elected Superintendent, to succeed Mr. Turlington, a position which he held until 1917. In his first year the eleventh grade was added and Seniors were graduated.

In 1911 a petition for bonds was made in order to erect a modernly equipped brick building. The petition for bonds was granted, the bonds were sold, and the contract was given to Joe Stout & Co., Sanford, N. C.

Mr. H. B. Marrow succeeded Mr. Vermont in 1917. Mr. George T. Whitely continued to act as principal, a position which he held for a number of years, giving his best support to every improvement undertaken. During the four years of Mr. Marrow's superintendency the number of students increased so rapidly that a new building was necessary to afford them the proper training. Again bonds were discussed and issued in the summer of 1921.

In this same year Mr. Thomas H. Franks, who had been principal during the 1920-21 terms, was elected Superintendent, and through his efforts bonds were raised, contract let to the Kenyon-Thompson Company of Raleigh, and the Smithfield High School building, one of the best in the State, was completed in 1922. It was then that the county began to bring in by trucks children of the rural districts, following out their plan of putting every child in the county within reach of a standard high school. During Mr. Franks's four years as Superintendent he gave loyal support to the upbuilding of athletics in this school and to raising the scholarship standard to the highest level of any high school. At the end of the 1924-25 term Mr. Franks resigned as Superintendent, to become a lawyer. He was succeeded by Mr. N. C. Shuford, formerly of Black Mountain, who has coöperated greatly with the student body and has been a great addition in making the school a success.

SENIORS

The Senior Class took as its creed that of Edgar A. Guest

My Creed

To live each day as though I may never see the morrow come; to be strict with myself, but patient and lenient with others; to give the advantage, but never to ask for it; to be kindly to all, but kindlier to the less fortunate, to respect all honest employment, to remember always that my life is made easier and better by the service of others, and to be grateful.

To be tolerant and never arrogant; to treat all men with equal courtesy; to be true to my own in all things; to make as much as I can of my strength and the day's opportunity, and to meet disappointment without resentment.

To be friendly and helpful wherever possible; to do, without display of temper or of bitterness, all that fair conduct demands; to keep my money free from cunning or the shame of a hard bargain; to govern my actions so that I may fear neither reproach nor misunderstanding nor words of malice or envy, and to maintain, at whatever temporary cost, my own self-respect.

To keep faith with God, my fellow-men, and my country.

EDGAR A. GUEST.

MILDRED LUNNETTE BARBER

"Lunnie"

"Love many, trust few, and always paddle your own canoe."

No quotation could fit Lunnette any better. She is the most independent member of our class. Although she has been with us only two years, we have learned to love and respect her a great deal. Great success and happiness will be hers in future years.

Home Room President 4; Literary Society 4; North Carolina Club 4; Current Events Club 4.

DELIA LAMAR ELLINGTON

"Dewa"

"Never trouble trouble till trouble troubles you."

Here's to Delia, the most attractive member of our class. None of us deny the question of loving her. If it's not a pleasant word or a funny joke it's a happy smile. Sometimes she slips and frowns, seemingly all serious, but soon it is gone and the real Delia greets us again.

Captain Basketball team 4; T. M. S. Club 4; North Carolina Club 4; Literary Society 4; Current Events Club 4.

MAJOR CLIFTON FRANKS

"Hypo"

"And still his tongue runs on."

"Hypo" is a natural good fellow and is always talking and laughing, although no one ever knows what has happened. He is tall and slender and has very pretty curly hair. It is a puzzle of the Senior Class whether he has a permanent wave or his mother curls it every morning.

Literary Society 4; Current Events 4; North Carolina Club 4.

BENJAMIN ARTHUR GARDNER

"Bishibi"

"We go to school to use our heads and not our tongues."

Arthur is one of our hardest workers. He always takes a big part in the class activities, and is usually willing to give his ideas concerning anything that comes before the class. If he is not telling a witty joke he is asking questions.

IRVING JAMES GILLETTE

"Yankee"

"A friend in need is a friend indeed."

No one can have a better friend than Irving—he has won friendship from us all. He is a good sport, and has been our companion through the four years of toil and hardship. We consider him the wittiest member of our class and he well deserves this honor. We will always remember "Yankee" by his queer brogue and permanent wave which stays rain or shine.

North Carolina Club 4; Literary Society 4; Current Events Club 4.

MARY GATTIS HOLLAND

"Fatty"

"Oh that this too solid flesh would melt."

Mary Gattis is our class flirt, which fits her well. She is a great addition to our class in both size and in other ways. She is always jolly and has a smile for every one.

History of Class of '26

'23

WHEN, we entered high school in 1923 we also entered a new and beautiful building. Owing to this fact and to the fact that we were, for the first year, under the guidance of Mrs. R. B. John and Mr. Charles Park, we had a hopeful start in our high school career. When Freshmen, our class, of ninety-eight students, was divided, with Mrs. John teaching the girls and Mr. Park the boys. All this year while Mrs. John strove earnestly and tirelessly to teach us the fundamentals of English, Miss Evelyn Wilson faced the hard task of teaching us Latin. Mrs. Thomas H. Franks, who was our Math teacher throughout high school, laid in our minds the foundation of all our future work in this fascinating study. The year passed happily and peacefully with one exception—the girls will always feel that they were treated unjustly when they were compelled to memorize "Thanatopsis" and the boys were not.

'24

Forty-eight students entered the Sophomore Class, all of whom were delighted to find that Mrs. Franks was to be their home teacher and that Miss Wilson was to be with us again. We had two new teachers, Miss Mildred Goode and Miss Clara Brawley, both of whom we soon learned to love and respect. They worked faithfully with us, and though Miss Brawley constantly and truthfully declared that we were absolutely ignorant on the subject of history, she labored so diligently, that after a while she could detect some faint glimmering of knowledge in our poor little brains. At the last of the session it was rumored that Mrs. Franks was not going to teach the next year. Such distress! We were all cast down by the very thought. We could only hope the rumor was untrue.

Such joy when we found that Mrs. Franks had returned and, as our home teacher, would pilot us safely through our Junior year. Each day that she had been with us we loved her more and more. We knew that such a friend as she was seldom found. We realized that she would make us walk the straight and narrow way, but we gladly followed her because she always stayed with us through thick and thin. Miss Sue Brett, our English teacher, did all in her power to help us in everything we undertook. We will never forget her.

Joe Honeycutt was elected president and we turned over to him our many class problems, which he solved in his efficient way. Our goal this year was to raise enough money to give the Seniors a banquet, so with this object in view we had a booth at the fair, gave a play and raised money in various other ways. Our work was not in vain. We finally succeeded in having the banquet.

At the close of 1925 we lost one who had toiled for us and with us during our three years in high school. Mr. Franks our Superintendent answered the call of a larger and broader field—that of becoming a lawyer—and left us. We will always remember and respect him. He never failed us when we needed friendly advice or coöperation in our class activities.

Seniors! Dignified Seniors! How we had dreamed of being Seniors! This year our class progressed by leaps and bounds. Miss Helen Baker, with her vast store of knowledge, worked faithfully to impart a small portion of it to us. She helped us organize new societies and strove diligently to make our Annual a success. Mr. N. C. Shuford, the new Superintendent, and Mr. Walker, Principal, were always ready with advice and sympathy, and it was a comfort to know that we could depend upon their ever-present help in time of trouble.

Our high school career is ended. Our joy is mingled with sorrow as we remember that this beautiful chapter in our lives is closed forever. We trust we have used all the golden opportunities it has given us. Its influence will help mould our characters, we know. Its memories will go with us as long as life shall last, and we hope we may pass to others the blessings which have been lavished upon us. College days are before us and after these—What? The future is veiled; but we shall go to meet it stronger and braver because of the triumphs and defeats and all the varied experiences of high school years.

ELLEN PATTERSON,
Historian.

Class Song

(To tune of When You and I were Seventeen)

WE have been with you, dear old school,
For many many years;
Oh, how we hate to leave you now;
And our eyes are filling with tears.

CHORUS

Good-bye, old school, we hate to leave;
But it is time to go.
You've served us long and faithfully,
That's why we love you so.
Through years of toil you've stood by us,
You've been a wonderful friend.
We love you now, we'll love you when
Life's fleeting time shall end.

Today we leave you old S. H. S.
In this big world to roam.
We are grateful for what you've done,
With thoughts of you, we're not alone.

ILA LEE BRADY

Class Poem

A LONG road leads to the Senior goal,
The throne of all high schools;
It takes numerous years of toil,
Burning valuable midnight oil,
To learn their golden rule.

But we the class of twenty-six,
Have yearly forged our way;
We've done our best,
We've passed our test
By studying day by day.

We hate to leave old Smithfield High;
It's grown into our hearts;
But we must climb
To heights sublime,
Pursuing our various arts.

A place awaits out in the world.
The big world of success,
And as we leave,
Our place to achieve
We thank old S. H. S.

It's hard to say farewell, Old School
Teachers, classmates dear,
But fill our place,
Keep in the race
Sending out more, year by year.

ILA LEE BRADY,
Poetess.

Class Prophecy

ONE moonlight night last week I strolled down to the old mill stream. I thought of my classmates who would soon leave high school and enter broader fields of activity. As I thought of this I wished that I, as the prophets of old, might look into the future and see my classmates as they would be after they had finished school and had gone out into the world. I sank down on a rough stone and gazed pensively at the water as it flowed over the dam.

If I might have one wish granted to me, I mused, it would be that the Spirit of the Future would lift the veil so that I might see my classmates as they would be ten years from now.

And, as I so mused, the moonlight on the water became brighter and brighter until a small area glowed as if lighted by a thousand candles; and, lo, there in the midst of this light, coming directly from the waterfall, was the Spirit of the Future. She appeared as a fairy, dressed in a beautiful robe, trimmed with many jewels, that glistened in the light as dewdrops in early morning.

"I am at your service," she said in a voice so soft that I could hardly distinguish it from the gurgling of the water.

"But why," I grasped, and she answered me and said;

"It is a custom of the fairies to grant a wish to the person who on Wednesday night sits on that stone at ten o'clock when there is a full moon. You have only to speak."

"Then," I answered, "Grant me this. Lift the veil so that I may look into the future ten years and see twenty-eight people who are now my classmates—see where they will be, and what they will be doing at that time.

"It shall be as you ask," she answered and disappeared and all around me was dim again.

But, lo! as I waited the veil that hides that which was to come was lifted and I gazed far into the future, and I saw men and women, at their various occupations, whom I recognized as graduates of 1926. As I passed through this land, the things I saw were written on my memory with indelible ink, and I herewith set them down, so that all who are interested may read.

I saw an opera house, and a large audience. As I watched, the curtains were drawn and I saw a beautiful dark haired girl seated at the piano. A tall handsome man came out on the stage. He sang. As my vision became clearer, I recognized the singer as Theron Johnson and, his accompanist as Mary Gattis Holland.

The next was a very familiar scene—Virginia Williamson in a school room conducting an English Class in a manner that would do credit to Miss Crigler herself.

Slowly the school room faded and I was in a hospital, Horrors! I hoped that no one in the class was sick. As I watched, a tiny golden haired figure in a nurse's uniform came down the hall and entered a room. I recognized her as Eva Ennis. I knew she was happy, for it was always her dream to be a nurse.

I then stood in front of a doctor's office, I opened the door and entered the waiting room, which was crowded. I passed on into the private office where I beheld Clifton Franks.

And it came to pass, I found myself at another school and as I looked, I recognized the teacher as Nell Grantham.

The scene changed again. I found myself in the business section of town. As I walked down the street I came to a large tobacco warehouse. Standing in the door were two familiar looking figures. On a sign in the office window I read, "The Wilson Warehouse, Gardner Bros., Proprietors."

A change came over my spirit and this time I was in front of a drug store. The sign read, Talton Drug Co. As I glanced in at the door I saw a very slick-haired man arranging Stacomb on a counter for a sale. He was our Ralph.

And I looked again. I was standing in front of an office building. Above me, on the office window, was painted the sign "Herman Lawrence, Attorney at Law."

And behold a change came over the spirit of my dream and I found myself in the open country. As I gazed out over the green fields of the beautiful farm before me, I realized that the person who owned this was a very prosperous farmer indeed. A man came to the door of his home, whom I recognized as Edwin Sanders.

Then it so happened that I recognized the building before me as that of Pilot Life Insurance Co., at Greensboro. The manager was dictating to his very efficient looking stenographer. He finished and as she turned to the typewriter, I recognized her as Thelma Medlin.

And straightway it came to pass that I saw a crowd gathered in the lobby of a hotel, listening to a radio. I went closer and as the first part of the program was finished the announcer said; "Station W. E. A. F., New York City. The next selection will be Wagner's Tannhauser March, played by the world famous Lassiter Orchestra. How thrilling—William Lassiter started on his musical career as a member of the high school band.

And verily as I beheld this scene and marveled thereat, the spirit of my dreams changed. I was in another opera house. I wondered who was going to sing. But a lady near me said; "She is the most wonderful dancer, since Irene Castle left the stage." I turned to the stage again for the curtain had risen. The popular dancer was Louise Parrish.

And as I looked again I saw a beautiful building. It was nearly completed. A sign near by read. "Uzzle and Jones, Contractors."

In my vision I saw another doctor's office. Was it possible that two members of the class were doctors? No, the man coming from the office did not go to S. H. S. Then I understood. A lady drove up in a coupe to take him home. It was Lela Talton.

Then I saw a movie magazine before me. I turned the pages and read that Dorothy Lee had signed a contract with the International Picture Corporation. She was going to star in a picture taken from a novel written by Delia Ellington also a member of the class of twenty-six.

And I looked again and as I looked I saw a beautiful home. The Woman's Club of Pine Level were having a meeting. I glanced around and recognized Clara Fitzgerald acting as hostess.

Again the scene changed. This time it was on an athletic field. A football team was practicing. Near by a group of boys were watching. I saw by the letters on their sweaters that they were U. N. C. Students. As the coach left the field to speak to one of the onlookers, I recognized Dan Kirkman.

As I looked again I found myself in a strange country. Judging by the way the people were dressed, it was China. However the lady coming up the street was not a Chinese lady. She couldn't be. It was Lunnette Barber. She always said she was going to be a missionary.

Next the Spirit of Prophecy conducted me to a big dairy and well kept barns were a proof that it was a very profitable business. The man standing in the barn door was Raeford Hamilton.

And it came to pass that another school appeared to me in my vision. I walked down the corridor to a door. Upon opening the door I found a Math class in the midst of a lesson. The instructress was Ellen Patterson.

Then again as I looked I recognized the room of a dentist. I hesitated for it always made me nervous when I went into a dentist's office. However I looked into the private office to see who The Torturer was. I saw Irving Gillette.

And it came to pass that I found myself in an auditorium. A big crowd awaited the rising of the curtain. I picked up a program and saw that a play was being presented by the Dramatic Club of Raleigh High School. As I watched I saw a young lady in evening dress come out before the curtain. She was greeted by a great burst of applause, and as I looked closer I saw that she was one of my classmates. Ila Lee Brady. She had become the director of Dramatics and expression teacher in the schools of our capitol city.

Again the scene changed. A crowd awaited the return from the election held that day. As the final returns came in, they were posted. I recognized at the top of this list the name of our class president, Joe Honeycutt. He had been elected Congressman from the fourth district, North Carolina.

I had seen every one in my class then but one, my friend Blanche Woody. Just as I thought of this I saw an art studio before my eyes. In it I recognized Blanche, herself. She had attained her ambition. Illustrating for a comic magazine.

The last scene faded. The veil was lowered, and I was again sitting on the rough stone, gazing at the water. Everything looked exactly as it had before. The moon had moved only a little farther on in her journey across the star-sprinkled sky. I got up to return to the house for I was cold and felt as if I had been asleep while sitting there.

Prophetess.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA }
COUNTY OF JOHNSTON }
TOWN OF SMITHFIELD }

WE, the members of the Senior Class of the Smithfield High School of 1926, being presumably of sound mind, memory and understanding, and realizing that we must soon take leave of this, our present state of existence, and pass on to the great unknown, do hereby will and bequeath in this, our last will and testament, our high school possessions and many good qualities to those whom we cheerfully leave behind; we hereunto affix our hand and seal.

SECTION 1

ARTICLE 1. To our parents we give and bequeath our love and appreciation for their efforts in aiding us to attain our goal—graduation from Smithfield High School.

ARTICLE 2. To the faculty we will thanks for the high esteem they have for us, and liberty from our many petitions which they always so gladly consigned to the waste basket.

ARTICLE 3. To the Junior Class as a whole we leave our place as Seniors and our many Senior privileges, those taken and given, and hope that they will make as good use of them as we did.

ARTICLE 4. To the Sophomores we leave all wads of chewing gum that they may find under chapel seats and desks, where they were hurriedly placed; and all other possessions that we leave, we give them the right to pawn.

ARTICLE 7. Ellen Patterson bequeaths her freckles to Mr. Shuford, who thinks that they are very attractive.

ARTICLE 8. Clifton Franks wills his self-imposed privilege of talking, to Juanita Sorrell.

MISS CREWS

The girls' basketball team this year did not have an official coach, so Miss Crews kindly gave her services towards helping the girls put out a winning team. Miss Crews, although she has been with us only one year, has cooperated with the girls greatly. We cannot express our appreciation for her efforts coaching the team day after day. We hope to have her back again next year.

C. L. WALKER

Regardless of available material, brains and brawn, in the boys themselves, and the conscientious hard work, it takes more than this to make successful athletics. In "Slats" we are fortunate in having a hard worker and a coach who is a credit to the school. No one but the school boys know how he has put the "get-up-and-go" into the teams and how he has built up the school spirit. This is his first year in Smithfield. We hope we can have him with us again next year.

Athletics in General

THE year 1921-22 saw the real beginning of athletics in the Smithfield High School. That year she had her first football team that went into semi-final championship by defeating Raleigh and other strong teams. The football season of 1922-23 opened with Charles B. Park (N. C. State), as coach, but due to the fact that all the team did not pass on the required amount of work, the team did not enter the championship race. Coach W. L. Rice (V. P. I.), trained the 1923-24 squad, which was only defeated by Sanford, the eastern champions. Then came the season of 1924-25, and with it a light and inexperienced team. We again met our Waterloo at Sanford in the semi-finals for the championship. The football squad of 1925-26 was composed of still lighter players than the season before. But with coach C. L. Walker (Elon) directing, the team, was very successful throughout the season.

Basketball also came into the limelight in 1921-22. For new material the team did unusually well under the direction of Dr. C. V. Tyner and R. P. Holding. The year 1922-23 saw the same team back ready to go to the limit in training. Hard work and hard training led the team to victories over Durham, New Bern, Sanford, and others; pushing them through the eastern finals to meet Asheville, the western champions. Asheville won by the score of 24-23. The next year the team was not quite as successful, having lost the eastern finals to Durham. In the season 1924-25 the altogether new team lost the eastern finals to New Bern. This year the team did exceptionally well and with their fighting and scraping spirit built up the wonderful spirit of the school. The girls' basketball team during the past four years, under the coaching of Miss Evelyn Wilson and Miss Frances Burton Crews, has had very successful seasons and has been well up into the championship each year.

Baseball remained in the background until the spring of '23 not having sufficient funds in 1922 to enter the championship race. It proved to be a worthy team by the fact that it met its only defeat by Woodland, the eastern champions. The 1924 team had practically the same record. Rockingham was the conqueror in the semi-eastern championship game. The 1925 team was eliminated from the championship by Clayton.

The spring of 1924 saw the beginning of track athletics in our school for the first time. That year we entered the State High School Track meet at Trinity College. After this, a field day was held in which marked interest and ability were shown.

Each year sees us brooding in the field of athletics. Last year Coach Rice laid the foundation for a system of intrascholastic athletics and we are proud to say that this work is being carried on very successfully.

Football Record

THE opening of school found the student body making prophecies as to what the outcome of our football season would be. The fact that only five letter men were in school and that prospective material was not very promising caused many to feel that we would be unusually weak.

At the first call for football, Joe Honeycutt was elected captain, and a very capable leader he proved to be. About eighteen boys answered the call and expressed their enthusiasm and determination to make the season a decided success. "Red" Johnson, center, Honeycutt, back, Talton, guard, Gillette, end, and Alford, tackle, were the veterans around which the team had to be built. Never did a bunch of boys work harder or with more determination to win a place on the regular line-up than did the score of boys who went out for practice this year. To this fine spirit of the boys was added the services of Coach C. L. Walker. Mr. Walker, has labored hard with the team and has won the friendship of every member of the team.

As the season progressed "Red" Johnson's performance at center was even more outstanding than the year before, and as pivot man he deserves a lion's share of the glory. The guard positions were filled by E. Johnson, Stallings, and Creech. The tackle berths fell to Talton, Uzzle, and Alford. Fitzgerald and Davis proved to be an excellent pair of ends, with Stevens as a reserve. At quarterback Captain Honeycutt ran the team very successfully and always exhibited the wonderful fighting spirit characteristic of him. Other backfield positions were filled by Gillette, Lawrence, Grantham, and E. Parrish.

During the season we defeated Dunn, Fremont and Elm City, by decisive scores, but bowing in submission to the heavier teams of Raleigh, Goldsboro, Fayetteville and Mount Olive.

The average weight of our team was about 138 pounds, which was by far less than most of our opponents.

We could not give a summary of our season without mentioning our faithful and loyal mascot, Donnie Ward, who stuck with us through thick and thin. He never failed to have hot water for our showers and our lockers were always locked. He also added to his fame by starring in the Elm City game.

The seven men of the squad who will be missed next September can leave, feeling that the fight and pep of the gridiron is being carried on by Jordan, H. Johnson, R. Parrish, Stancil, Hamilton and Woodall, who were not fortunate enough to win a coveted "S," but who will help fill the vacant gaps next year.

Lawrence U. Stancil

IT is very appropriate that we remember Lawrence, who played such an important role here in athletics during his high school career. He was one of the best football tackles in the State. Lawrence has always been known by his grit and fairness in any kind of sport. Lawrence played on our football team three years and it left a great gap in the team when we lost him this year.

The success of the 1926 annual is due largely to the unending efforts and untiring coöperation on the part of Lawrence. The EAGLE staff wish to express their sincere appreciation for all that he did for us.

Basketball

WHEN the first whistle for basketball practice sounded it was answered by a different squad than the one that left the closing game last year, with the exception of Kirkman, who was elected captain. Honeycutt, Davis, Gillette, Lawrence, Uzzle, Parrish, Albert Gardner, Arthur Gardner, Stevenson, Ragsdale, and Sellars were the candidates to present themselves.

The regular assignment of guard position fell to Honeycutt, Gillette, and Kirkman, while Uzzle and Lawrence held down the forward position with Davis as pivot man.

Our season was somewhat erratic at times, due perhaps, much to lack of experience. Nevertheless, with the head-work of the boys and the backing of the school and town, the season was altogether a success.

THE IMPOSSIBLE WOMAN

I use to think it possible,
Some women could be true;
But that was in the happy past,
Before I met with you.
And though you played me for a fool,
I learned a thing or two;
Just how impossible it is
For women to be true.

MISS FITCHETT: Ed Ward, come up here and sit down in front.
ED: I'm not made that way.

RAEFORD: How many failures were there this month?
MISS CRIGLER: Just two.
RAEFORD: Well, I'm half of them.

THERON: What time does school take in?
MR. WALKER: At eight forty-five.
THERON: Oh, I thought it took in at quarter to nine.

RALPH: Do you grade by hours, Miss Fitchett?
MISS FITCHETT: No, Ralph, I grade you by yours.

MISS C: When I took English I found it hard.
RALPH: Don't refer us to ancient history, please.

There is a little girl I know,
Reminds me of a traffic cop.
'Cause first she gives the sign to go,
And then she gives the sign to stop.

✻ ✻

JEANNETTE (looking in at a Dutch inn): My, I can taste that supper right now.

JIM: That's fine. We can stand right here while you eat just all you want.

✻ ✻

RAMIE: Ruth smokes incessantly, doesn't she?

ERNEST: Well, she ought to, she's hot enough.

"Do you like Camel's or Chesterfield's?"

"I like the odor of Camels."

"Well, I don't."

✻ ✻

PROFESSOR: Do you smoke?

STUDENT: No sir.

PROFESSOR: Do you drink?

STUDENT: No sir.

PROFESSOR: Do you gamble?

STUDENT: No sir.

PROFESSOR: Say, I'd like for you to meet my daughter.

STUDENT: No sir, I don't neck either.

✻ ✻

CHARLIE: Are you going to the race?

RAYMOND: What race?

CHARLIE: Human Race (laugh).

RAYMOND: What 'cha laughing at. You're not in it.

✻ ✻

HE: Nobody but fools are positive.

SHE: Are you sure?

HE: Yes, I am absolutely positive.

✻ ✻

The gum-chewing girl, and the cud-chewing cow,
There's quite a difference you must allow.
What is it? Oh, I have it now—
It's the intelligent look on the face of the cow!

DELIVERING COAL BY WIRE

Even in this age of miracles, people would hardly credit the assertion if they were told that invisible coal and water are being delivered by wire.

Yet that is exactly what this and every other public utility in the nation is doing every hour of the day and night.

It requires millions of tons of coal and millions of gallons of water to generate the electricity which provides light or drives the motors of industry. Invisible coal also is transported in pipes when gas is used. In hundreds of other ways the utilities invisibly serve their customers, cheaper and better than they could serve themselves.

VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.

It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to interpret the ideas of the Staff and create in material form their vision.

From the art work and engravings to the finished book, this volume is the result of organized cooperation with the Staff.

Such able cooperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.

To those Staffs desiring complete cooperation from art work and engravings to the finished book, we offer unexcelled service. Complete service means undivided responsibility as to the result—one organization to correspond and talk with—one trained director to merge the many ingredients into the finished product.

You, too, may be proud of your annual.
